LEGISLATURE, 1859.

ANNUAL REPORT of the Attorney General.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Lansing, January, 1859. }

TO HIS EXCELLENCY MOSES WISNER, Governor :

SIR—I respectfully submit my report for the years 1856, 1857 and 1858, as required by the Act of April 8, 1851, relating to the reports of State officers.

The neglect of many of the Prosecuting Attorneys to forward their reports to me have rendered necessary a postponement of my own, somewhat beyond the time fixed by law. The statute requires each Prosecuting Attorney, in the month of November, annually, to transmit to the Attorney General a report of the official business done by him in his county during the preceding year. It will be seen by the document hereunto annexed, marked "Schedule B," that for the year 1856, no report was made for twelve of the organized counties; that for the year 1857, the like default occurred in twenty-six counties, and for the year 1858, the like in twenty. The county of Wayne, whose criminal business nearly equals in amount that of all the rest of the State, furnished no report whatever for the years 1856 and 1857, and an extremely imperfect one for 1858. Jackson and Oakland furnished none for 1857 and 1858. The leading objects of the statute in requiring these reports to be made, are evidently to preserve the statistics of crime and punishment, and to furnish reliable information, not only as to the promptness and vigor with which Prosecuting Attorneys do their duty, but also as to any changes which may be necessary in our criminal code. But it is obvious, that under the imperfect and negligent practice which now prevails to a lamentable extent in the offices of Prosecuting Attorneys, this source of information is of little value. Although the statute visits every case of neglect with a fine of fifty dollars, and although I have carefully complied with the statute in forwarding blank forms of report to each Prosecuting Attorney, and felt it my duty to report many of them to the County Treasurers for prosecution for delinquency, yet no instance has come to my knowledge of an action having been brought to collect the penalty.

The document marked "Schedule A," hereto annexed, contains the abstracts of such reports as have reached me for the year 1856, 1857 and 1858. Document marked "Schedule C," contains a brief recapitulation, derived from the abstracts, of the prosecutions for the crimes of murder, burglary and larceny, for those three years, from which it appears that the number of convictions was five hundred and seventy-one; of which nineteen were for murder, thirty-nine for burglary, sixteen for burglary and larceny, and four hundred and ninety-seven for larceny. It is to be remarked, however, that the absence of reports renders these numbers but an approximation to the truth.

Observation convinces me that the above named crimes, to which should especially be added counterfeiting, are alarmingly on the increase in the State. One great cause of the increase, and of the impunity of offenders, is undoubtedly found in the weakness and inefficiency of the means of detection and arrest. The statutes provide no compensation whatever for sheriffs, constables, and other ministerial officers, beyond their mere fees for serving process, for any efforts they may make to bring offenders to justice, allowing them nothing at all for searching out the guilty, or exercising the slightest vigilance in the way of detection or suppression. This is a task which is always sufficiently onerous and unwelcome, and if unrequited, is seldom or never performed save by persons actually injured by the crime. While bands of thieves, counterfeiters and burglars are formed in our midst, in organized bodies, with signs, tokens and pass-words—with, indeed, a secret vocabulary, and other devices as perfect as the ingenuity of guilt can invent, by which the members mutually recognize and aid each other, and without being suspected—contrive schemes of crime in the very presence of their victims, the law provides no detective means by which their plans can be thwarted, and community guarded against them.

I am of opinion that further legislation on this subject is necessary, and that the law should confer on the Boards of Supervisors authority to provide for the employment of such detective and repressive means as in their good judgment they may deem best suited to the end. That much expense might thus be saved to the counties, much crime punished that would otherwise escape, and much prevented that would otherwise be committed, I entertain no doubt.

In June, 1856, I commenced an action in the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee, in behalf of the State, against the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad Company, to collect a balance ($3,706 76) of the specific tax on the capital stock and loans of the Company for the year 1855—which balance the Company had refused to pay, under a construction of the charter in which I could not concur. The questions of law arising in the case were reserved by the Circuit Judge for the consideration of the Supreme Court, which at the January term, 1857, upon full argument, decided that the State was entitled to recover the balance. It was paid to the State Treasurer, (Hon. S. M. Holmes,) on the 22d of August following. The case is reported in 4 Michigan Reports, p. 398. I may add, that since then other objections have been raised by the Company to the principles insisted upon by the Auditor General in assessing the specific tax upon them; all which objections, so far as they have come to my knowledge, were replied to in my letter of advice to him of the 4th of February last, in which I fully stated my views of the proper construction to be given to the several clauses of the charter on which the discussions have arisen touching the specific tax.

I have also appeared for the State in the following cases in the Supreme Court:

The case of John Stewart, indicted, tried and convicted in the Circuit Court of Wayne county, on two indictments, for having in possession counterfeit bills with intent to pass them. Judgment reversed in both cases, at the October term, 1857, for defects in the indictments.

Charles Tryon's case.—In which the accused was indicted, tried and convicted in the same circuit for misconduct as an attorney at law. After undergoing a part of the sentence of imprisonment the accused was pardoned by the executive, and shortly afterwards the sentence itself was reversed by the Supreme Court, on error. (4 Mich. R. 665.)

John Adward's case.—Prisoner was charged with mingling poison with the drink of another, with intent to injure him. Convicted in the Circuit Court for Wayne county, and judgment affirmed in the Supreme Court. (5 Mich. R. 22.)

William Potter's case.—Prisoner was indicted for murder in the Circuit Court for Wayne county, tried and convicted. Judgment was reversed in the Supreme Court, and a new trial ordered on account of errors in the instructions to the jury. (5 Mich. R. 1.)

Delos Carmichael's case.—The accused was indicted in the Circuit Court for Hillsdale County for administering a drug with intent to injure the prosecutrix, and convicted. On error and bill of exceptions, the Supreme Court held the conviction right. (5 Mich. R. 10.)

Albert F. Shannon's case. Prisoner was indicted in Lenawee Circuit Court for exposing an infant child with intent to abandon it, and convicted. Upon writ of error and bill of exceptions the judgment was reversed and a new trial ordered. (5 Mich. R. 36-71.)

Robert T. Lambert's case.—Prisoner was indicted for polygamy, and convicted in the Circuit Court for the county of Wayne. On error and bill of exceptions the Supreme Court reversed the judgment below for error in the charge to the jury, and ordered a new trial. (5 Mich. R. 349.)

Simon B. Jenness's case.—Prisoner was charged with incest in the Recorder's court of Detroit. On error and bill of exceptions the judgment below was reversed by the Supreme Court for error in the charge to the jury, and a new trial ordered. (5 Mich. R. 305.) After two subsequent trials he was acquitted.

John Stewart's case.—Prisoner was indicted and tried in the Circuit Court for the county of Wayne for having in his possession counterfeit bills with intent to pass them, and to render them current as true. On bill of exceptions the court held the conviction wrong, on account of the admission of incompetent evidence, and ordered a new trial. (5 Mich. R. 243.)

Case of Mrs. Catharine A. Jones.—Indicted in 1850 for continuing an obstruction in Shelby street, Detroit; tried in 1853 in the Circuit Court for Wayne county. Jury found a special verdict: the court reserved the question of guilt arising upon the facts found for the consideration of the Sudreme Court, who held that upon the facts Mrs. J. was not guilty. (Case not yet reported.)

Case of the People vs. Francis Mayworm.—Information in the nature of a quo warranto on the relation of Michael Finnegan. Court held the defendant to be an intruder into the office of Sheriff of the county of Houghton, ousted him, and adjudged the relator entitled to it. (5 Mich. 146.)

In September last I filed an information in the nature of a quo warranto against Isaac Stauffer for holding the office of Township Treasurer of the township of Gaines, in Kent county, on the ground that he was ineligible. The case is still pending.

Wm. L. Whipple, relator, administrator of Hon. Chas. W. Whipple, deceased, vs. Whitney Jones, Auditor General.—This was an application for a mandamus, to compel the Auditor General to issue his warrant upon the State Treasurer for the salary of the late Judge Whipple, as a Judge of the Supreme Court from Jan. 1, 1852, to the time of his death, which took place in October, 1855, at the rate of $1,500 a year. It appeared that the deceased had been regularly paid his salary as Circuit Judge during the whole of that period; but the relator claimed that under the act of April 4, 1851, to provide for the organization and powers of the Supreme Court, and which enacts (Section 4) that "each of the Judges of the Supreme Court shall receive an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars, payable quarter-yearly," the deceased was entitled in law to receive a separate and supplemental salary as a Judge of the Supreme Court. This claim involved a careful discussion of the intention and effect of those clauses in the present constitution respecting the salaries of the Judges under the former judicial system of the State. And after very full argument, the Court held the claim to be unfounded, and dismissed the application. In this view, the case was one of great importance; for had the decision been favorable to the relator, the Judges under the former system would each have been entitled to the like additional salary, and the State would thus have been required to disburse some $72,000 in payment of their claims. All must admit that the various points which were raised by counsel, were treated with marked ability and clearness in the decision pronounced by the Court. (5 Mich. R., 193.)

Another question of still greater importance to the finances of the State arose during the summer of 1857, respecting the sufficiency of the notice of tax sales by the Auditor General. The Revised Statutes of 1846, (ch. 20, sec. 74,) provides that the "Auditor General shall annex to and caused to be published with each of said statements, (of lands delinquent for taxes,) a notice that so much of each tract or parcel of land described in said statements as will be necessary for the purpose, will be sold by the County Treasurer on the first Monday of October next thereafter, at such public and convenient place at the seat of justice of the county as the County Treasurer may select, for the payment of the taxes, interest and charges thereon." It had for many years been the practice of the Auditor General to give a notice in the following form :

" AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Lansing, — — —, 18—. }

"So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of land, situate in the county of ———, delinquent for unpaid taxes for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place in the village of ———, the county seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided."

It had not been the practice of the County Treasurers to issue any notice of the place selected by them for holding the sales, though such selections had occasionally been made, and a short notice given. I had, however, learned incidentally that in one of the Circuits it had been held by the Court that such notice from the Auditor was not of itself sufficient, and that the Court was of opinion that the County Treasurer was bound by law, in every case, to give a notice of the place which he had selected for the sales, and that his notice should be, in circulation and duration, co-extensive with that of the Auditor General. No such decision was, however, made by the Supreme Court until the May term, 1857, at Kalamazoo. At that term the case of Niles vs. Walker came up for argument. (See 4 Mich. R. 640.) The notice of the Auditor General was in the above form. The County Treasurer, one week before the day of sale, had caused written notices to be posted up in three different places at the county seat, that the sale would take place at the court-house. The case seems to have been very inadequately argued by the counsel for the plaintiff, who claimed under the tax sale; and the Court, only four of the Judges participating in the decision, adjudged the notices to be insufficient, and that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover the land. The Court, however, omitted to sign and file their decision in the case, but made it orally, and without having their attention called to the previous legislation on the subject, to the practice which had long prevailed, or to the serious consequences which might flow from such a view of the statutes. It must indeed, if carried out to its legitimate results, have ended in the overthrow of almost every tax title in the State for a long series of past years, and have left the State under an obligation, equitable at least, to refund to tax purchasers an uncalculated amount of money, (embracing more than a million of dollars,) which had in good faith been paid into the treasury and become invested under the guaranty of her laws.

On my attention being called to this decision by the Auditor General, (Hon. Whitney Jones,) and on his asking my official advice whether for the future his department ought to abide by the rule apparently laid down in the case of Niles vs. Walker, and after carefully examining the record and the final order therein, and giving the subject my best reflection, I did not hesitate to advise him that the rule which seemed to be there adopted was not law. And I accordingly advised him to continue precisely the same form and mode of notice as had hitherto prevailed. He followed the suggestion. The doubts, however, which the decision had cast upon "tax titles," had its effect at the coming October sales, at which there was a large falling off in the amount of State revenue usually derived from that source. The Treasury suffered severely. All confidence in tax titles seemed, for the time, to be lost, and the holders of them began to prepare themselves to claim indemnity from the State. At length, at the July term of the court, 1858, the same question again came up, and I conceived it to be my imperative duty to appear as amicus curiae, and ask to be allowed to present my views upon a subject so intimately affecting the financial interest of the State. Permission was granted and the question argued in all its bearings. The Court, upon the most mature deliberation, held the notice to be sufficient. And thus a most disquieting question, which had occupied much of the public attention and filled the minds of multitudes with anxiety and alarm, was finally set at rest. (5 Mich. R. 462, 501.) I have no reason to doubt that this elaborate decision has met with the general assent and approbation both of the Bar and the public.

My former report contains a brief statement of the facts upon which I felt it my duty to institute a suit against the Phenix Bank of the city of New York, in the Superior Court of that city. Under a commission issued by the Court, directed to a citizen of Detroit, I proceeded, in the summer of 1856, to take the depositions of seven witnesses on the part of the State. The trial came on before the Hon. M. Hoffman, at the special term of the Court, on the 14th of April, and continued till the 2d of May, 1857, during which a large mass of testimony, oral and written, was put in, and in which I had the efficient aid of J. L. Jernigan, Esq., the local counsel, charged with the conduct of the case. On the 6th of June the Judge (the parties having waived a trial by jury) pronounced his opinion in the cause, and rendered a judgment for the State for the amount claimed, ($35,508 74,) together with interest thereon from Dec., 1854, and the costs of suit, amounting in all at the date of the judgment, to upwards of $41,000. The bank, however, gave notice of an appeal to the general term of the Court, and considerable time necessarily elapsed in settling the case for its hearing. This having been done, I again visited New York, for the purpose of arguing the appeal in November last. But on the application of the counsel for the bank, who were not ready for trial, the case was postponed. When decided here it may be removed by appeal, to be taken by either party, to the Court of Appeals. That it may be so removed is not at all improbable. I take the occasion to say that my convictions of the justice of our claim are strong, and that the State ought never to abandon its efforts to collect it, until an adverse judgment of the court of last resort of our sister State shall bar its further prosecution. The evidence clearly implicates the bank and its principal officers, in a scheme to rob the State of a large amount of money, under pretence of an indebtedness which never subsisted, as against the State, either by contract or recognition, but which, as the defendants well knew, had been fully satisfied and paid to their assignor, the old Phenix Bank, by the Michigan State Bank and the Bank of the River Raisin, from which two banks the debt was originally due. It appeared in evidence that the old Phenix Bank, as recently as the summer of 1852, came to a fall and final settlement, in writing, between themselves and their agent, who had had charge of the pretended claim for twelve years, and who, as early as 1840, acting for that bank, had received full payment from the two Michigan banks, and discharged them. By this settlement, the old bank recognized and ratified all the acts of the agent, and accepted from him a conveyance to itself of the lands lying in Saginaw county, which he had taken in part payment. This settlement paper was produced by the State on the trial. And it is not unworthy of remark that it bears the signature of the gentleman who was then the president of the old bank, the president of the new bank (the defendants,) at the time of its organization, and at the time of the presentation and allowance of the claim before the Board of State Auditors, and the very person who, early in 1854, placed all the papers in the hands of counsel at Detroit, with instructions to present and prosecute the claim. None of these facts, namely, the two settlements made by the agent in 1840, the giving of the deed and the settlement with the agent, were made known to the Board of Auditors, while the claim was pending, but were concealed from them by the bank and its agents.

Such was the magnitude of this allowance, and so stale and antiquated the claim on which it was based, that on entering upon my office in 1855, I commenced an investigation into the facts and circumstances connected with it, and at an expense of much time and labor finally succeeded in arriving at a full knowledge of them. I recommend a persevering prosecution of the suit now pending. It is surely of interest to know whether in a transaction which, as between private persons, would cover with lasting dishonor the party guilty of the covin, and in which a court of justice would hasten to compel him to repair the wrong, a State is without a remedy; and whether fraud and speculation are less blameworthy when committed upon the public treasury than when perpetrated against private rights.

Under the act of 1857, for the better protection of the public lands, and to punish the cutting and carrying away of timber therefrom, I drew up at an early day blank forms of information for the several offences created by the act, and forwarded them to the prosecuting attorneys of all the counties where the school lands and swamp lands are most exposed to depredations, and furnished a supply of the same to the then Commissioner of the State Land Office, to enable him to direct prosecutions under the act. I am not aware, however, of his ordering any prosecution under it. I have directed several, and have reason to believe the enactment has exerted a salutary restraining influence upon trespassers upon the public lands.

The late Secretary of State, Hon. John McKinney, in the early part of 1857, called my attention to the important powers conferred upon the Boards of Supervisors for the erection and organization of new townships under the act of 1851, passed to carry out the provisions of section 11, of article 10, of the constitution. It was discovered that serious irregularities and informalities had found their way into the proceedings of the Boards, in exercising these important powers of local legislation, so beneficial, when properly used, to the people of the counties. To guard against such defects for the future, and to give uniformity and validity to such proceedings, I made out the necessary forms for the organization of new townships, which were printed, and forwarded by the Secretary to the County Clerks throughout the State. It is gratifying to know that the cheap facility thus afforded to localities where legal forms are sometimes imperfectly understood, has produced the desired uniformity and accuracy, and that the forms have been almost universally followed.

The numerous applications to the Attorney General to file informations in the nature of a quo warranto, to try the right of incumbents to their offices, and the long delays intervening in the Supreme Court before a decision can be had—delays in most cases tantamount to a total deprivation of his rights to the claimant—have suggested the enquiry whether some mode more expeditious and less expensive cannot be adopted. The multiplicity of elective offices, and the endless disputes arising from errors committed at the polls, or in the canvass, seem to me to make it necessary to provide some means of settlement short of a resort to the Supreme Court. I think the public interest would be promoted by providing for the determination of all cases respecting township offices, and perhaps even county offices, exclusively in the Circuit Courts; giving to the party aggrieved the right to have the judgment reviewed in the Supreme Court.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. M. HOWARD,

Attorney General.
